Graduation Day

Never again will you sit in the classrooms of Duquesne High
For many years of learning have quickly gone by.
As this our graduation day
is a dream come true
May it be a beginning of success for each of you.

No matter what aims and goals
you try to seek
With God's help you will overcome burdens that you meet.
Fond memories you will always cherish
of high school days
When you receive your diploma on graduation day.

There is a difference between training and education. Training emphasizes imitation of a model or memorization of what the book or the teacher has said. It is oriented towards things as they are. The textbook and the workbook are its symbols.

Education, on the otherhand, emphasized creative interaction. The symbol of education is a person thinking critically, listening or speaking, reading or writing, visualizing or observing. Judgement, not memory, becomes central. Training asks only "how". Education asks "how" and "why".

A trained person is at home with a familiar situation but ill-at-ease and disorganized when the fixed habit does not work. The educated person, however, is at home in the atmosphere of uncertainty. He welcomes the challenge to fixed habits which the trained person fears and avoids.

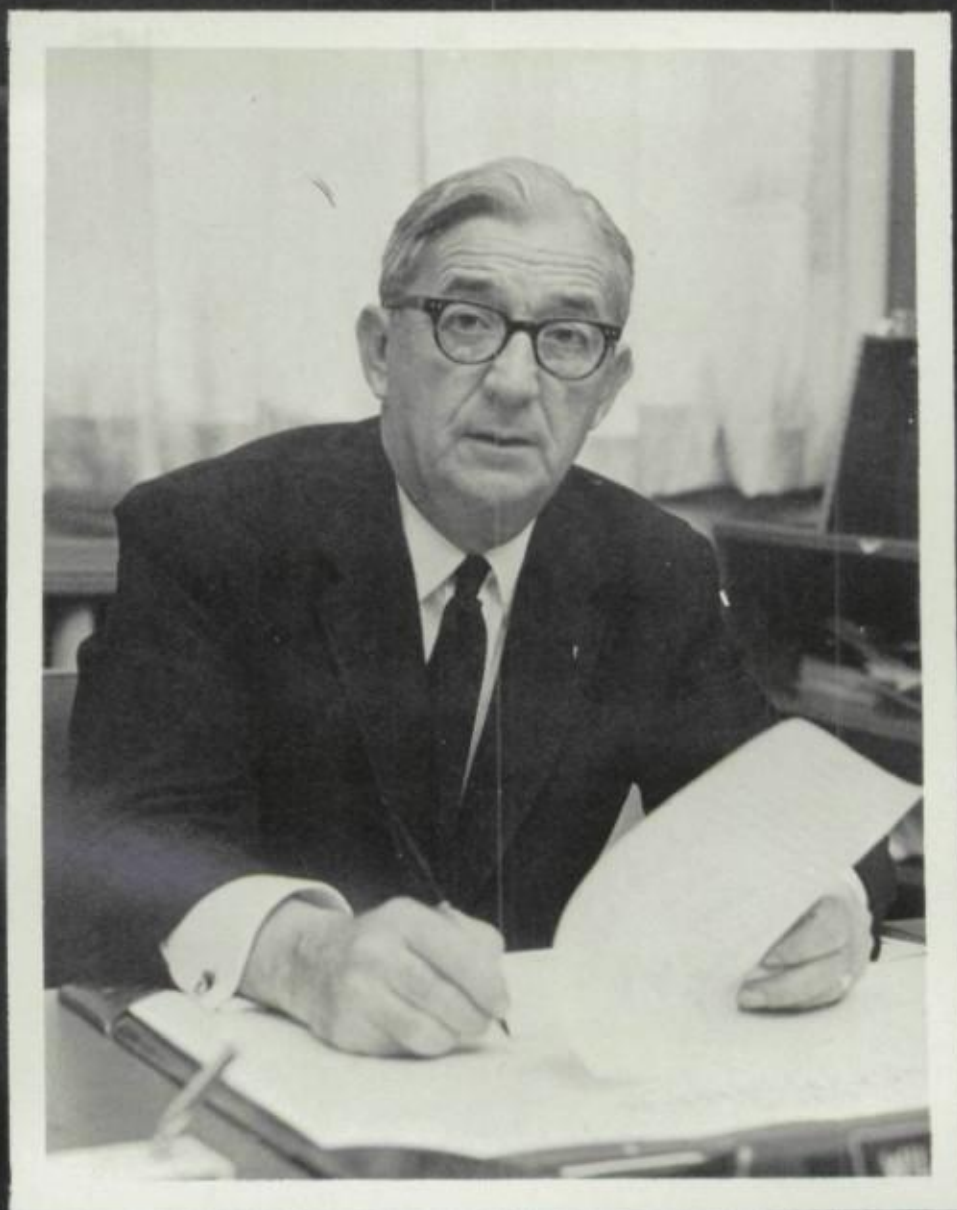

A trained person depends on other persons for his instructions. The maturing independent learner is on the road to self education. Training means continued dependence while education means independence in learning.

The great goal of any school is to produce the independent learner.

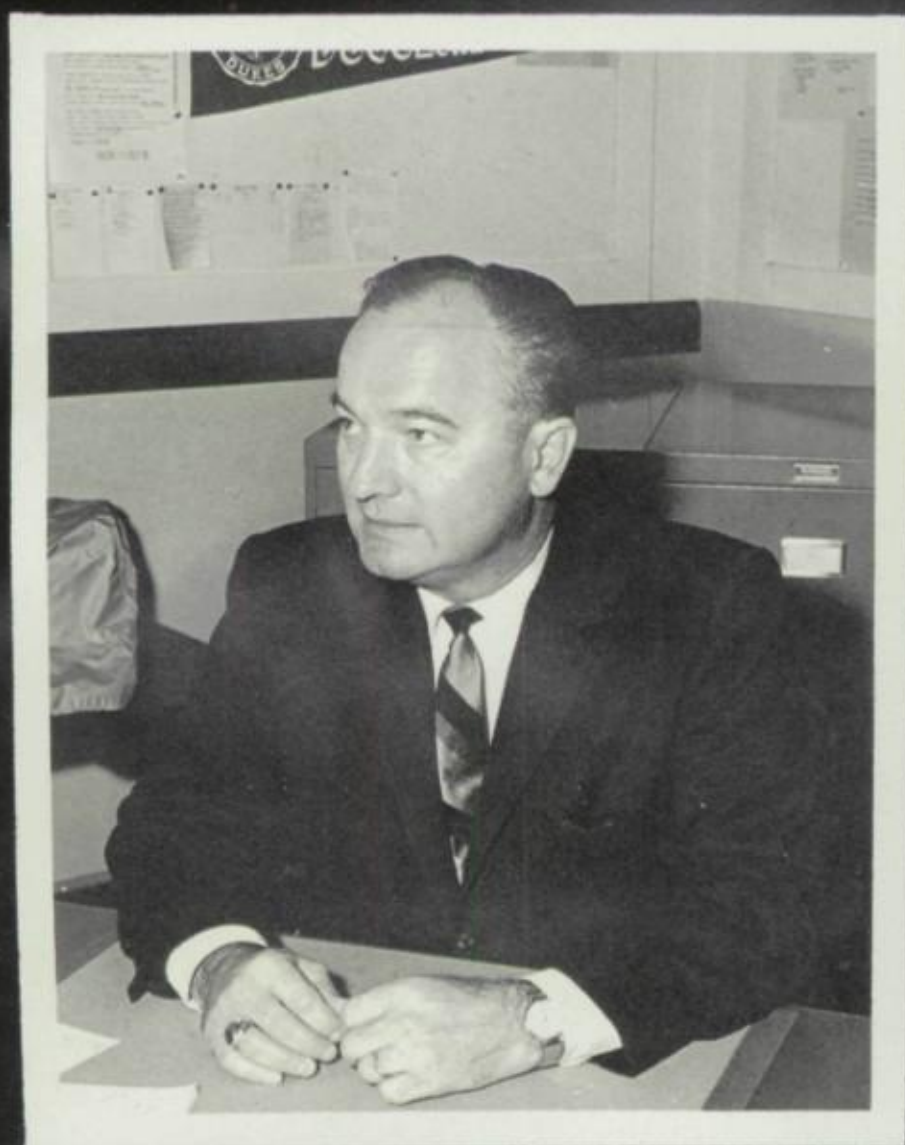

It is sincerely hoped that during these past twelve years, the teachers with whom you have come in contact have inspired you to become independent of them and that you have learned how to learn and love learning.

A child's school environment includes more than the class room or extracurricular activity. It includes interest in his health, his personal problems as they are related to school attendance, and his school or class room problems.

Subjects may be taught in the home when illness prevents attendance at school. Parents are advised concerning health and dental welfare of each student. Faculty and students rely upon the secretarial and janitorial services each day in the school year.

A school could not function well without these services.

The operation of the public schools of our community is performed by a board consisting of seven members who are elected by the citizens.

They have the responsibility of assuring each child the opportunities for the best education possible, of supplying the needs of the school program, and of maintaining unbiased and fair relationships and assignments with various personnel.

An efficient and harmonious school system is directly related to the activities of the board. Their task may, at times, be difficult, for they represent the taxpayer, the faculty, and the students. Their ultimate goal is always the educational welfare of each student.

The yearbook staff this year has tried to give our students the best book possible for a school our size.

Tip-in color pictures, which have been used for division sections in our books during the past five years have been replaced by the more costly full color pages. Duo-tone pictures are also included.

School colors of red and white are exemplified on pages two and three and on certain other pages.

Senior Class colors for 1966, blue and white, are incorporated in all division pages in the Duquesne High School seal. These colors give emphasis through out the book.

The Echo staff continues to feature the senior portraits. Each picture gives full attention to each individual student. Senior write-ups are located in the final pages of the book. The Echo staff sincerely hopes this yearbook will call to memory in some distant future those happier moments in D.H.S.

James St. Clair.

All staff members working together have one aim -- to meet the dead-line with worth while contributions. The success of the '66 Echo indicates the staff accomplished its aim.

Four flames, each burning separately, light the ideals of Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service. These ideals are the requirements for membership to this respected organization.

The combined light of all candles is our school. Its honor is reflected by each student in this group.

Character is what the student is--his moral standards; his honesty in the performance of his school tests and assignments, his relationship with people and his convictions; his attitudes toward this school, teachers, parents, and above all, his country; and finally, his conduct--what he does.

Scholarship is knowledge plus understanding. It means enriching his life with art, music, literature, science, and humanities. Scholarship is what he makes for himself.

Leadership is inspiration--to encourage others to see and to want to share these enrichments and responsibilities. It is his ability to lead others by his own examples.

Service is humility--the willingness to do. It is the giving of one's self to his school, his community, his home, his chosen field of work, and, above all, his country when ever and where ever it may call him.

A member of this society failing any of these stringent qualities is traitor to those who had believed in him and had trusted him, to the many boys and girls yet to come to our high school, and to himself.

May these flames always light the way in our school!

Y-Teens are the most active organization in DHS. They do many things which, for this year, included participation in the community Halloween parade, bake sales, the writing and evening performance of a one act play by each grade, Christmas collection of food which was donated to the Salvation Army, and of toys and clothing donated to the Goodwill, a mock fashion show, a picnic, a luncheon for the graduating members and the women teachers, a scholarship contribution, and many other similar activities.

They are also the most considerate organization in DHS. They do not forget their teachers. When death occurs in the home of a faculty member, a sympathy card mailed to the family expresses their feelings, Christmas cards greet each teacher during the holiday, and personal invitations are sent inviting teachers to social functions.

This group of young ladies is a very great asset to our school.

Majorettes

Miss Yuschak,
Sponsor

The majorettes! Their flashy and disciplined performances impart a feeling of localism-our town and school spirit.

They represent us well wherever they are--on the home field, on the visitor's field, in the local parade, or in the "out-of-town" parade.

Their long hours of practice have paid off, for all of us enjoy what they do, and all of us say, "Thanks for a task well done."

Cheerleaders

Duquesne High School owes much of its school spirit to the hard work of its cheerleaders. These eight girls who are chosen by the student body are the main promoters of enthusiasm at games and pep rallies. Without their group efforts to instill in the hearts of each student a pride in their school, our teams would have no reason to triumph over their opponents.

What would a football game be without our colorguard, majorettes, cheerleaders? Their colorful display during the "half time" of the game contributes as much to the spirit of the evening as the game itself.

The competition between the home and the visiting bands is as important as our team competition.

Band

The students watch our band, and they are proud of it. They want the drills, the marching, the music to equal, or surpass, our visitors. To do this demands discipline and practice, for a band is a team on the field or in a parade. How they perform affects the spectators. More important, it reflects our school.

May our band next year attain greater skill for each exhibition.

A special program by the Junior Class honored those busy juniors who trotted door-to-door selling candy bars. The spirit of the performers reflected the excellence of the sales record, (and of course, profits).

High point of the program was awarding gift certificates to the junior with the best sales record. The honor went to Lora Nahory. Diana Bergel and Christopher Krivonak followed. Mr. Salvucci sponsors the group.

Profits from the candy sales are used for some school function, or to advance the interest of some school activity.

Basket

The Dukes got off to a slow start for the '65-66 season by losing the first two games. Though they bounced back winning the next two games, the season ended with eleven victories and ten defeats.

The Duke record in the league games was a little more disappointing with five wins to seven losses. The fight and spirit were there, but unfortunately the victories were not. What the record fails to show is the team spirit and determination.

High light of the season was the Duke's 70-65 score in the second battle with West Mifflin

Our Duke baseball team completed the 1965 season with a disappointing "two win, ten loss" record. The victory rally in the second game failed to carry the team through the season.

Where'd they move that finishin' line?

Editor's Note

The memories of the past school year are revealed in our '66 Echo Yearbook for all students of Duquesne High School. A larger part of our book is dedicated to the senior class who have reached the end of their high school days.

The editor and the staff of the yearbook would like to thank Mr. James St. Clair, our sponsor, for his constant interest and guidance to each staff member and also his timeless hours devoted to the photography of school activities. This yearbook would not have been possible without his assistance.

Our many thanks also go to Mr. Kowallis and the members of the faculty for their cooperation throughout the year.

"Thanks" are also extended to the members of the staff, Carolyn Andrews, Mary Fleehr, Kathy Greso, Janet DeVinzio, Roberta Zeleznik, Patricia Ochocki, Andrew Serdy and Marilyn Zajac who willingly accepted and completed the tasks assigned them.

With the completion of this book goes our sincere hope that you will enjoy and treasure it in future years.

Graduation day is here,
It's time to leave our friends so dear,
It's time for us to go away,
But we'll see these friends another day.

Now we reach to get the key
That helps to guide our destiny;
As time moves on we'll think of all
The fun we had in roamin' through the halls.

Acknowledgements

Publishing a yearbook is an activity which requires the cooperation of many different people. Whenever the staff does not receive such cooperation, creating these pages becomes very difficult, and sometimes impossible.

The Echo staff has always received the support of the school administration, and most of the faculty and students, and we wish at this point to express our sincere appreciation to all of you who have made this book possible.

We are especially indebted to the following:

Mr. William Kowallis, our principal, who has been most generous in permitting changes in the structure of the book and who has always tried to give the staff anything it needed;

Colao Studios for its generous help to the staff;

Mary Fleeher for creating our '66 Duke and for permitting us to use her pet cat for the picture taken in the Echo Staff Office, pages 9 and 81;

Carolyn Andrews and Mary Stella Markides for writing the poems dedicated to the graduating class, pages 13 and 149;

Sponsors of clubs and the coaches of football, basketball, and swimming for permitting us to photograph these activities;

Marilyn Zajac and Andrew Serdy for their pictures of the Student Government Day, pages 126, 127;

Marilyn Proskey, editor and business manager, who reported to the staff office every morning and afternoon to handle any business affairs of the book;

The Staff, Kathy Greso, Carolyn Andrew, Janet DeVinzio, Roberta Zeleznik, Mary Fleeher, and Patricia Ochocki in carrying out assignments;

The accommodating mongrel that dropped by to assist the photographer and supervise the home-rooms, pages 61.

The Staff determined the size and organization of the book and designed the cover. Each individual member was assigned certain pages in the book, and they were responsible for determining the photographs, drawing the lay-out plan of the pages and checking the accuracy of their work, including the correct spelling of the names of each student.

These responsibilities were distributed as follows:

Marilyn Proskey, 43 to 50, 75, 76, 82, 83, 93, 94, 95, 100, 101, 102, 116, 117, 121, 132, 133, 134, 135, 145, 147, 148; Senior Directory, from Slis to Zeleznik;
